

Australia

Faculty Directed Program

PROGRAM INFORMATION

Program Director:

Dr. Kari Gunderson

College of Forestry & Conservation

Kari.Gunderson@umontana.edu

754-2543

Country Destination: Australia

Credits: 6 credits

Degree Level: Undergrad or grad

Cost: $4990

Dates: May 13–June 9, 2012

Application deadline:

March 15, 2012

Earn 6 credits while studying the relationship between human societies and the natural environment during this 4 week course in southern Queensland. Students will attend lectures at the University of Queensland, explore the Great Barrier Reef, the Outback, tropical rainforests, and learn about Aboriginal culture and communities. RECM 345: Sustaining Human Communities and Natural Environments can count as a General Education requirement (Group X: Indigenous and Global Perspectives)

For details, visit www.cfc.umt.edu/studyabroad/Australia.html or contact: Dr Kari Gunderson, College of Forestry and Conservation at kari.gunderson@umontana.edu or 754-2543.

406.243.2288

www.umt.edu/ip

Goabroad@umontana.edu