

The University of Montana
CRAIG HALL

Craig Hall was constructed in 1952, and named in honor of Oscar J. Craig, the University's first president.

The hall is situated at the south end of the campus. Craig Hall is T-shaped and very popular due to its larger rooms.

There are four floors, each of which is divided into three wings. Similar to all of our residence halls, Craig Hall is smoke free. Approximately 30 individuals are located on each wing. Craig Hall has a cozy atmosphere. Craig Hall is connected to Duniway and provides an opportunity to meet many people.
