Dear Professor Adams:

Thank you for reaching out and providing information about the speakers’ series issue as it affects you.

First, you are not banned from speaking at the University of Montana. As far as I am concerned, you will receive a safe and respectful reception. Content or possibly political points of view should never be a consideration in scheduling campus events.

Whether or not specific academic faculty, schools, or colleges invite or sponsor particular speakers is a different issue. The basic fact is, whether or not you are formally sponsored by any faculty or school within the University of Montana, you may certainly deliver a speech or presentation on our campus.

Best regards,

Sheila M. Stearns
President
University of Montana
