What Does NSSE Tell Us About Improvements in Student Engagement Over Time?

From the outset, one of NSSE's principal goals has been to provide participating colleges and universities with diagnostic, actionable information that can be used to improve undergraduate education. In recognition of NSSE's 10th anniversary, the feature story in NSSE Annual Results 2009 is about positive trends in student engagement.

We selected a subset of 2009 participating institutions with multi-year data, to determine whether any campuses showed trends of improving performance on NSSE's Benchmarks of Effective Educational Practice or in the proportion of students participating in particular high-impact practices. As detailed in NSSE Annual Results 2009, we found that a considerable number of institutions showed real improvement. We were also gratified to find that patterns of diminished performance were rare.

These encouraging results, from a variety of institutional types and sizes, suggest that systematic improvement efforts at some institutions have paid off. In the coming years, we will continue our program of research on educational quality and improvement by conducting in-depth inquiry into the improvement process at selected institutions, so others can benefit from what these successful campuses have learned.

Have Student Engagement Results at The University of Montana Changed Over Time?

We encourage institutions with results from multiple NSSE administrations to examine patterns of change in their student engagement results. Some may look for changes in the nature of student engagement, some will investigate possible trends, while others will be keen to evaluate the impact of specific campus initiatives. The adjacent table indicates what engagement data are available for these analyses at your institution, including Faculty (FSSE) and Beginning College (BCSSE) results.
