Requirements to install and launch Windows Client from the browser (cannot be opened with Safari or a Macintosh Operating System – consult with your IT professional alternate method)

Windows Client. The Windows Client uses a .NET-based engine to emulate the spreadsheet environment without requiring Microsoft Excel. It provides full access to Axiom features, but certain spreadsheet features are limited.

The Axiom Windows Client requires the following software prerequisites:

- A supported web browser with support for Microsoft's ClickOnce installation protocol

Note that most computers already have a Microsoft.Net Framework 4.8 or higher. If you go through this process and are still unable to open the Windows Client, please email me at cindy.johnson@umontana.edu. I will send more detailed instructions.
