□ State of Montana Arboretum

An arboretum is a living museum devoted to trees and shrubs selected for education, scenic beauty, and passing on a legacy. Our arboretum showcases eight forest regions of North America and has more than 2,000 trees here on the University of Montana campus.

View an interactive map of the Arboretum at <http://map.umt.edu/arboretum#16/46.8622/-113.9820> .

□ PNAC Native Garden

The Ethnobotany Garden at the Payne Family Native American Center contains Native plants, shrubs and grasses of the Rocky Mountain West. Eight "Circle of Life" represent the diverse ecoregions of Montana and the Native American tribe or tribes that live within that region.

□ M-Trail

The best known symbol of both UM and the City of Missoula is the giant concrete "M" on Mount Sentinel, sitting above 13 switchbacks and providing a panoramic view of the entire Missoula Valley. The trail is steep and takes about 20 minutes each way. Even if you only go up one switchback, the view is amazing.

□ Kim Williams Trail

Right off of campus, the Kim Williams Trail offers a flat trail to downtown or into the wilderness. The trail uses the old Milwaukee Railroad grade which is 2.5 miles long and goes through a 134-acre natural area.
