Peer Health & Wellness Education

Student Leaders in Health and Wellness-PROs (Peer Wellness Educators)

The PROs are Peer Wellness Educators who are current undergraduate students at University at Montana who facilitate peer-to-peer dialogue and learning on a variety of health and wellness topics. The topics are aimed at promoting life-long behaviors that support mental health, healthy lifestyle, and overall well-being. PROs receive in-depth training through a Peer Health Education course and work closely with Wellness staff as they grow their skills in health promotion and prevention work.
