Looking for a New Podcast During the Quarantine?

Students in ELI's Speaking & Listening class created podcast episodes as part of a final research project. Some students decided to report on how COVID-19 is... affecting various aspects of their life. For instance, one student explored the ways in which COVID-19 is impacting young people in Japan who are about to start their careers. There are episodes on a variety of other topics as well, including Tik Tok, K-Pop, and E-Books. If you’d like to listen, please visit: https://saraschroeder3.wixsite.com/podcasts/schedule-7

Teach English anywhere in the world with the TESOL Certificate.

Would you like to teach English to nonnative speakers? We can help, by getting you certified with the TESOL Certificate. This certificate and a bachelor’s degree will satisfy the minimum qualifications to teach English at most independent language schools worldwide. What’s more, you will receive mentorship from our experienced ESL/EFL teachers, as well as, help in pursuing your career in the English teaching profession. Take the next step toward working abroad, attend the UM TESOL course this Spring.

Contact: jeanie.castillo@mso.umt.edu

We are hiring!

Peace Corps Strategic Campus Recruiter Position

Position Location: Missoula, MT

The University of Montana-Missoula is currently accepting applications for a Peace Corps Strategic Campus Recruiter position. Applications will be accepted until filled.

Position type: Part-time (approximately 20 hours/week)

This position is anticipated to begin the end of August and run through the end of the academic year.

Successful completion of a two-year assignment in the Peace Corps.

This is an excellent opportunity for a student at the University of Montana-Missoula (graduate or second bachelor degree, completion of a certificate program, minor, etc.). Successful candidates will have outstanding organization, communication and public speaking skills.

Overview: The Peace Corps Strategic Campus (Strat) Recruiter will increase awareness of Peace Corps Volunteer opportunities on campus and in the surrounding community through a variety of recruitment activities, including, but not limited to: delivering class or club presentations, tabling in public, high-Also...

We want to say thank you to Kevin Deitle for his exceptional work as a Peace Corps Campus Representative. Good luck in your new path!
Are you an outdoor enthusiast, do you like stunning views of winter landscapes, skiing, and other snow sports? Do you want to immerse yourself in modern Nordic society? If so, then you should consider studying abroad at the University of Helsinki. Helsinki is the capital city of Finland and is located on the shores of the Baltic sea with a stunning mix of modern and historic architecture.

The University of Helsinki has a population of around 34,000 students and is one of the best universities in Europe. Finnish and Swedish are the two primary languages of instruction, as well as, a growing number of courses offered in English. The University of Helsinki has nine faculties: Theology, Law, Medicine, Arts, Science, Education, Social Science, Agriculture, and Forestry. For more information about courses visit the University’s website.

Apply Today

Never miss another GEO event or Featured partner university. Subscribe to our newsletter